

Subject: MC2012-26

Comments:

As a small business owner, I would like to make comments regarding the Postal Service's request to change Post Office Box agreements to show street addresses rather than a PO Box.

Currently the Postal Service prohibits shipments from both UPS and FedEx to Post Office Boxes. To circumvent that restriction, the Postal Service wants to allow Postal customers to use their business address. This is the essence of all of the private mail box companies. In my opinion this is unfair competition by a Federal Agency to unfairly compete with private industry. The Postal Service would maintain more favorable rules than what we as private mailbox companies are required to comply with.

- 1. The Postal Service would provide free forwarding of mail while we are required to repost each piece of mail that is forwarded.
- 2. The Postal Service undercuts the mailbox pricing that currently exists in the industry.

In addition, this monopolistic position taken by the Postal Service could feasibly put some small business owners "out of business".

Sincerely,'

Paul W. Senior